

National Geographic Giant Fishes Project

Dr. Zeb Hogan visited the Aquaculture Research Center on June 20th. Dr. Hogan works for the WWF/National Geographic Giant Fishes Project and University of Nevada, Reno. During his visit he took pictures of paddlefish, recorded a video on paddlefish tagging hosted by graduate student Noah Nelson, and interviewed Dr. Mims and some of his graduate students. Pictures and videos of paddlefish and interviews about Dr. Mims research will be used by National Geographic in various television and educational programs.

